Verbal Reasoning And Non Verbal Reasoning For Engineering Students

The Department of Training and Placement organized a Verbal Reasoning and Non Verbal Reasoning for Engineering Students Program on 07.02.2023 and 08.02.2023 Conducted by Mr.M.Thanikachalam, Aptitude trainer, Awake Training Institution, Coimbatore.

Mr.M.Thanikachalam mentioned that the Verbal and Nonverbal Reasoning is an important part of any competitive exam. Verbal reasoning tests the ability to read, understand and interpret written matter, while non-verbal reasoning tests your ability to solve mathematical problems and puzzles quickly. The questions in the verbal reasoning section are generally easier than those in the non-verbal reasoning section.

Mr.M.Thanikachalam interact with students on 07.02.2023

Student ask queries to Mr.M.Thanikachalam on 08.02.2023

OUTCOME:

Students should be able to answer questions intelligently and should be more self-assured. The programme has helped 125 students in total.

Report of "Core JAVA" on 30-09-2022

The Department of Computer Science and Engineering organized a One day workshop on "Core JAVA" by Logesvari. A, Software developer, Emglitz Technologies, Coimbatore from 10.00 AM to 12.30 PM.

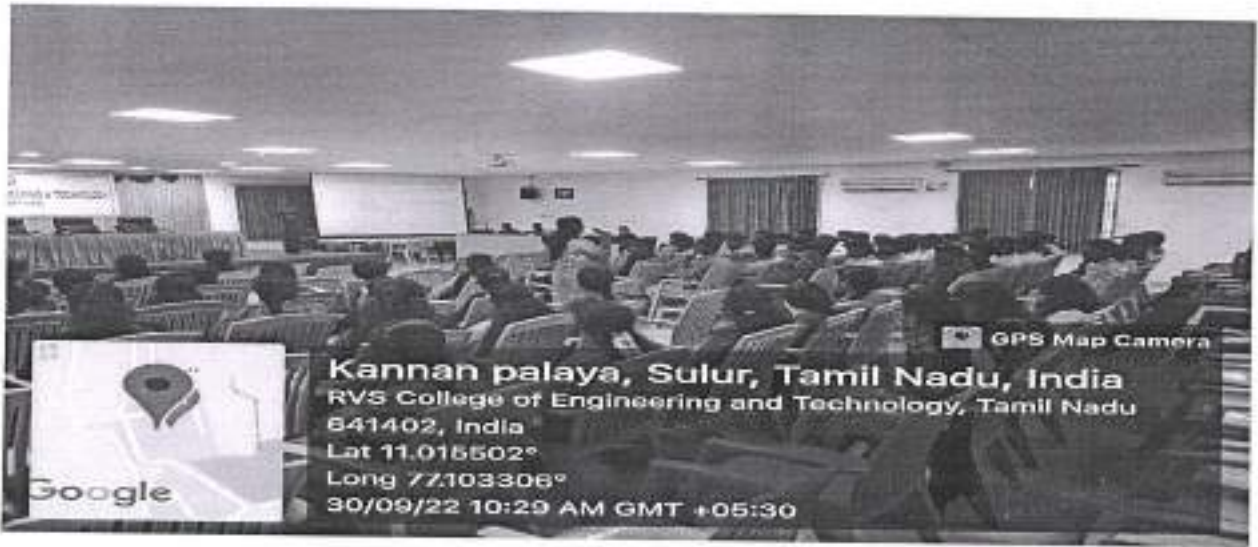

She and her team explained the concepts of core java and its usefulness in various fields of computing. They broadly explain the opportunities available in the market for java. Students were interactive and gathered the knowledge about core java.

Totally 123 Students attended the workshop by II,III and IV year students from the department of computer science and engineering.

After the session they have given small tasks to do for students. Students were keen to do the tasks given by the emglitz team. Few students got appreciation from the team after the successful completion of the task.

As per the feedback received from the students it was very good learning experience and difficult concepts were explained in a very easy manner so that the students felt the session was very useful and informative.

Report of a Guest Lecture “DYNAMIC PROGRAMMING & GREEDY TECHNIQUE” on 01-06-2022

The Department of Computer Science and Engineering is organized a guest lecture on “DYNAMIC PROGRAMMING & GREEDY TECHNIQUE” on 01-06-2022 by Mr.Vetrimani Elangovan M.E,(Ph.D),AP/CSE,Presidency University,Bangalore.He started the session with the introduction about the dynamic and greedy techniques.

Then he explained about Principle of optimality, Coin changing problem, Computing a Binomial Coefficient, Floyd's algorithm, Multi stage graph, Optimal Binary Search Trees, Knapsack Problem and Memory functions in Dynamic Programming and Container loading problem, Prim's algorithm and Kruskal's Algorithm – 0/1, Knapsack problem, Optimal Merge pattern, Huffman Trees concepts in Greedy Technique.

Totally 55 Students attended the guest lecture form II year CSE and as per the feedback received from the participants, it was very good learning experience. The guest lecture helped the students to understanding the concepts of Dynamic Programming & Greedy Technique.

held on 29-10-2022

The Department of Computer Science and Engineering has organized a Guest Lecture on "Fundamentals of data Science" on 29-10-2022. The speaker started the session with real world heterogeneous data and its representations. He explained with five fundamental steps in data science & data analytics. He explored Linear regression models supported for data science.

Totally 54 Participants attended the Guest Lecture from II CSE of CSE department, RVS college of Engineering & Technology. We have received very good feedback from the participants that it was very informative.
